CLUB RECORDS FOR YEAR 1912

Following are the official club records of bases on balls and strikeouts, for 1912, graded according to greatest number of bases on balls and the least number of strikeouts, respectively. The Chicago club profited most by lack of control on part of opposing pitchers; Pittsburgh is last in this department with 140 less passes than the leaders. The Cincinnati club struck out less than any other club in the league; its percentage per game being a fraction over three strikeouts. Boston brought up in the rear with 633 strikeouts, or an average of nearly 4-1/2 per game. The two records:

CLUB BASES ON BALLS RECORD	No. on Bases	Pct. on Game
Chicago	560	3.63
New York	514	3.34
St. Louis	508	3.22
Brooklyn	499	3.26
Cincinnati	479	3.09
Philadelphia	464	3.05
Boston	454	2.93
Pittsburgh	420	2.76

CLUB STRIKEOUT RECORD	No. Strike-outs	Pct. on Game
Cincinnati	492	3.17
New York	497	3.23
Pittsburgh	514	3.33
Brooklyn	584	3.82
St. Louis	620	4.05
Chicago	615	4.05
Boston	693	4.47

The bases on balls and strikeout records of players who participated in 40 or more games are given below. Sheppard of Chicago has the unusually high total of 122 bases on balls in 146 games. Huggins, with 87 passes in 120 games, also rates high. Other good "waiters," shown by the reords, are Titus, Moran and J. Smith of Brooklyn; Paskert, Bescher and Bates, Carey and Evers. Zimmerman secured but 38 passes in 145 games. Kirke, one of the 300 hitters, drew only 9 bases on balls in 103 games. Killifer 4 passes in 85 games, and Kelly 2 in 48 games, while Pitcher Benton failed to reach first on balls in 50 games. Murray, Fletcher, J. O. Wilson, Campbell, Marsans and Doolin are players, who, presumably, would be helped in the batting averages by the exercise of greater patience. In the strikeout records Evers is charged with but 18 strikeouts in 145 games, or an average of one to every eight games played; Doyle of New York is close second, with 20 strikeouts in 143 games. Others with low averages in this line are Meyers, Knabe, Tinker, Marsans, Cuthshaw, McLean, Gibson and Killifer. E. McDonald of Boston struck out 21 times in 121 games; Sheppard was next with 81 and Carey, Schulte, Cravath, Merkle, Jackson, O'Rourke and even the champion Zimmerman are shown by the records as having been frequently retired on three strikes. The individual records are:

M'FARLAND EARNS A SNUG FORTUNE

Men attend college until they are 24, and after the degrees are distributed, it takes the fortunate ones until they are 45 to build themselves a wholesome pile of the world's goods. When they get it all lined up in stocks, bonds, real estate and cash, you can usually count the hairs in their heads. Oftentimes, too, they have to fight indigestion, gout, rheumatism, or some other bodily ailment. Two weeks ago Packey McFarland the Chicago boxer, celebrated his 24th birthday, and considering the occasion opportune, gave out an interview in which he stated he would retire from the ring on New Year's day. He estimated that his pugilistic earnings in eight years amounted to nearly $200,000. What will the advocates of the higher education say to this? Here's a man of 24, who probably never met the requirements of high school, having become a boxer at 16, able to call off all activities and live comfortably the rest of his life, without worrying about the tariff or the high cost of food. It may be argued that McFarland's case is unusual, as it surely is—probably there has not been another just like it—but it will occur to some that fists are mightier than books, a new construction of "the pen" is mightier than the sword. As a general rule the rewards of boxing are quicker and greater than in most any game and they are snatched up by many, but let it be remembered also that there are a thousand

BRIGHT OUTLOOK FOR CRIMSONS

Coach Percy D. Haughton, in a statement the other day, contributed Harvard's victory over Yale solely to the grand punting of Felton and the general all-around excellence of the remainder of the team. The majority of the players have arrived home, well and happy. Bob Storer, who made the Crimson's first touchdown against Yale in eleven years, is the only man with a bruise. His knee is badly bruised and water on the knee is feared. He is at his home in Boston. The others are stiff and sore. Harvard's prospects for next season are rather promising. Captain Wendell Pomeroy, Gardner and Felton are the only members of the eleven who graduated. Bradlee, who has substituted for Wendell all fall with great success, and Wigglesworth, substitute center, are the only men of the nine substitutes who made their last Saturday, who return next year. Brekley, Hardwick, Pennock, Trumbull and O'Brien made the coveted "B" for the first time, and Wigglesworth, Bradlee, Granshaw, Linard, Bradley, Hollister, T. Frothingham, Lawson and Driscoll also earned their initials. Five of the nine being practically gifted with them, because of the one-sided score and three years of faithful service. Storer and Hitchcock, both juniors and tackles, are the foremost candidates for the captaincy.

MATCH CALLED OFF

St. Louis, Dec. 3.—The boxing contest between Packey McFarland and Harry Brewer scheduled to be held here December 10 was called off today because of a hitch in the financial arrangements with McFarland.

GOVERNOR LEAVES FOR PHILIPPINES

Boston, Dec. 3.—Governor General Cameron E. Forbes of the Philippines, who has spent nearly all of his nine months' leave of absence in Massachusetts, left this city today for New York, on his return trip to Manila. The governor general and his personal secretary, Conrad P. Hathaway, expect to sail from Seattle December 16 and to arrive in Manila January 24. Be Modest. Never seem to affect the character in which you wish to shine. Modesty is the only sure bait when you angle for praise. By modesty I do not mean timidity and awkward bashfulness. On the contrary, be inwardly firm and steady, know your own value, but take care to let nobody discover that you know it. Whatever real merit you have, other people will discover and people always magnify their own discoveries, as they lessen those of others.—Lord Chesterfield.

IS OPPOSED TO WOMEN ON BOARD

Editor Standard: Are the lady teachers of Ogden lending aid to the campaign for a woman on the board of education? No, not at all. Why is that? Because we are not interested in it. I should think you would be interested in a candidate who declares in favor of a having the lady teachers get their rights. We have our rights now. We are well treated. But would you not rather have some one on the board of education who could intercede for you—some one of your own sex who understands you? No, never. Give me the man every time. We have five men now, and I never was treated better in my life. What man on the present board is your favorite? I do not know any of them except by sight. How do you make your wants known, then? Through the principal and the superintendent, who always give us a hearing, and if our proposition is good it is put into effect. We have our building meetings, supervisors' meetings and general meetings, in all of which we may express ourselves freely. Any one might think from what you and your papers and your lady candidates say that we are an abused class of teachers, and I resent it. We prefer to continue to express ourselves as at present, through the principals and the superintendent. Well, do you not think there is merit in having a woman on the board who has been a teacher? No, nor a man who has been a teacher, either. Recently I saw an article in an eastern paper which objected to a former teacher as a board member on the ground that he had not recovered from what he learned while teaching, and the hardest parent to get along with in these schools is the one who has been a teacher years before. She is hard to talk to. She knows too much and it is often not the latest thought, either. Don't you think a mother would be a good board member? She might, but I think she should be home with her children instead. Then you prefer a woman without children over one who has children? No. A woman of that kind elected on the Berkeley board of education has been a sterner center and a mediator and has finally seriously injured a famous school system. You mean, then, that women are not good for much? No, I do not mean that. Women are better than men, but their place of usefulness is at home. Neither do I mean that no woman could succeed as a school board member. But I do mean that lady teachers are not demanding it, mothers are not demanding it, the children are not demanding it. Who, then, is demanding it? Principally, the candidates themselves. What do you think of the views of the present lady candidates for school board member on the backward child? Provision for the backward child should be made. Some weeks ago this matter was taken up in the Ogden schools and has been studied. Statistics have been gathered from all the rooms. The twin problem—the over-bright child—is also under consideration. Their other thought on a closer relation between the home and the school is a good one, too. To this end we have parents' days and parents' meetings. What we need is not a woman on the school board, but more frequent visits from parents. The woman of the clubs, if their own children are well trained, could aid their neighbors in training theirs, if they have a surplus of time on their hands. This would aid the lady teachers.

Do many of the lady teachers share these views of yours? I think practically all of them feel as I feel. We are contented with the fair way in which we are treated. We know that whom to make our wants known, and we know that it is not a matter of some one else having a "friend" on the board "to take care of her," while the rest of us are ignored. Teachers now work on the merit system. What one thing would you say a woman—a mother—on the board could do better than, or as well as, a man to aid the lady teachers? Well, I think she could do one thing that would be a genuine aid to the lady teacher and that is she could stay home and train her children so the teacher would have less of it to do. Every mother has all she can do well. Did you ever hear of a woman leaving her home to do unnecessary things for public honor, and later find a neglected boy or girl gone wrong at home? The home is a thousand times more important than the school, and the home training more lasting. Besides, we have well trained men and women in charge of the schools.

why worry? They are giving all of their time to it. They meet and discuss the latest things educationally daily. It is not the business of the school board in a good school system to be executive officers. Getting the most votes does not make a board member competent to say which is the best method of training children, nor even to say which are the competent teachers. They hire experts to do this. Now do you believe we ladies are contented with our lot? And away she sped to catch the car. (Signed) WILLA SPURGEON. Principal Lorin Parr School.
